Art Unit: 1732

1. Applicant's election of Species B, claims 12-19 in the reply filed on September 5, 2006 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 12, 15 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Akins et al (see the paragraph bridging columns 1 and 2; Figs. 2 and 6; col. 10, lines 19-31).

Akins et al (Fig. 6) discloses the instant process of forming a trans(reflector) by forming first (142) and second (144) spaced areas on one surface of a transparent substrate and selectively depositing a reflective coating (168) on the first surfaces (142) while the second surfaces (144) are covered with a light absorbing –ie, anti-reflective—coating. See col. 10, lines 19-31. Given that the reflector would function in the device of Figure 2, the second areas would function in the instant manner of transmitting “light from a backlight”.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1732

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13, 14 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Akins et al.

Akins et al is applied for reasons of record, the reference failing to explicitly teach the deposition as recited in instant claim 13, the hot stamping of claim 14 and the texturing and provision of optical deformities on the surfaces other than the first surface. It is submitted that the deposition of a reflective coating on only surfaces 142 would have obviously been performed by a line-of-sight deposition method, such allowing the coating in the desired areas and preventing same in the non-desired areas. Akins et al (col. 9, lines 47-57) discloses different methods of depositing the metal reflective layer and certainly hot stamping would have been obvious over these. Concerning the latter aspects of texturing and optical deformities, see col. 9, lines 15-21 wherein it is taught to roughen or texture the metallic surface to allow light scattering. It is quite well known in the art to do this on optical surfaces and such would have been an obvious step for the second—non-metallized—surfaces to facilitate diffusion and obtain a more uniform lighting. It also would have been obvious to have used optical deformities on the different surfaces dependent on the exact optical effect desired.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 1732

In view of the amendment, new art to Akins et al has been found and applied which more closely meets the amended claims. Applicant's comments directed to the previous rejection are now moot in view of the newly found art.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mathieu D. Vargot whose telephone number is 571 272-1211. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Fri from 9 to 6.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Christina Johnson, can be reached on 571 272-1176. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
